Quarles Petroleum Purchases DEF Fleet Fueling Systems from SPATCO DEF

Charlotte, NC - July 23, 2013 - Quarles Petroleum, Inc., a major mid-Atlantic fleet fuel station operator, has purchased DEF Dispensing Systems from manufacturer SPATCO DEF. Equipment will be used at Quarles' unattended fleet fueling stations throughout Virginia, Maryland, and North Carolina.

Estimates project annual DEF usage in the United States to reach 350 million gallons by 2015. This increased consumption rate will be a direct result of the EPA's emissions regulations reaching Tier 4 off-road vehicles in 2015, as well as the increased number of SCR-equipped on-road vehicles in the market.

"We were pleased to be able to design and build a system for Quarles that accommodates their specific size constraints and helps them satisfy the increased fueling demands of their fleet customers.", says SPATCO DEF president, Jeff Dailey.

SPATCO DEF Dispensing Systems are available with 525, 1000, 2000, or 5000 gallon DEF tanks and are compatible with dispensers by Wayne and Gilbarco. Equipment is available through a nationwide network of distributors, or by calling (866) 9 SPATCO.
